

General Studies & Interdisciplinary Studies

The Bachelor of Arts degrees in General Studies and Interdisciplinary Studies provide a broad, rigorous education that introduces students to essential knowledge that is integrated across disciplines, and application of knowledge to life beyond university. The curriculum allows students to organize their varied explorations into coherent degree programs. The programs give students an enriched and provocative curriculum that prepares them for professional work in a changing culture and economic environment.

Career Opportunities

- Business
- Education
- Graduate Work
- Applied fields

Employers of General Studies and Interdisciplinary Studies Majors

- Academic Institutions
- Business and Industry
- Government
- Public and Private Sector

Professional Associations and Affiliations

American Historical Association
www.historians.org

American Library Association
www.historians.org

American Marketing Association
www.marketingpower.com

American Psychological Association www.apa.org

Computer Research Association www.cra.org

Mathematical Association of America www.maa.org

National Education Association
www.nea.org

American Sociological Association
www.asanet.org

Marketing, Sales and Advertising Jobs www.marketingjobs.com/