

Monthly Housing Allowance for Post 9/11 Chapter 33 Students during National University Breaks

Since August 1, 2011, with the implementation of the Post 9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Improvement Act of 2010, break or interval pay is no longer payable for Post 9/11 Chapter 33 students. This means monthly housing allowance (MHA) is not payable during mandatory school breaks. When National University is not in session, such as the extended winter break, students will not receive their MHA for that period.

National University breaks are as follows:

- April 1 to April 7, 2012
- July 1 to July 7, 2012
- December 23, 2012 to January 5, 2013

Students requiring financial aid beyond what is offered by the US Department of Veterans Affairs may consider applying for financial aid including Pell Grants, Federal SEOG Grants, Federal Work-Study Program, Federal Stafford Loans (subsidized and unsubsidized forms), CAL Grant, Federal PLUS Loans, TEACH Grant and private (alternative) education loans. Apply for Federal Financial Aid through the FAFSA website <http://www.fafsa.ed.gov/> or visit a financial aid advisor on-campus.
